

SOCIETY FOR THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF ARCHAEOLOGY

44 Beacon Street, 2nd Floor, Boston, MA 02108 ■ Tel.: 857-305-9357 ■ www.ajaonline.org

The Society for the American Journal of Archaeology was founded in 1989 to expand the size and scope of the official journal of the Archaeological Institute of America, to make possible its timely publication, and to ensure its future financial health. Contributions from Society members have helped underwrite the AJA's entry into digital publishing, allowing for the creation and maintenance of AJA Online (www.ajaonline.org), the availability of an electronic subscription option, and the launch of AJA Open Access (www.ajaonline.org/openaccess).

Whether from loyal individuals or from storied institutions, all investments in the Society for the AJA sustain the AJA. Please help us continue to improve our steadfast commitment to excellence.

Tax-deductible contributions to the Society are welcome in any amount. Contributors of $250 or more are listed on AJA Online and on the inside back cover of four consecutive issues of the AJA; those who give $1,000 or more are invited to AIA events and lectures.

Individuals and institutions wishing to support the Society for the American Journal of Archaeology can complete the form below by clicking and typing into the fields. Please send the form along with any payment to the address given below or go to www.ajaonline.org/society.
